"Revivalists" Sent Out to Induce Men to Quit.

PRESIDENT DEBS IS CONFIDENT.

He Declares That the Strike Is More Prosperous and Encouraging Than Ever Before—Still Wrecking Trains by the Use of Dynamite.

CHICAGO, July 16.—The American Railway union officials have determined to make a desperate struggle to regain for the order the prestige it has lost in the strike, now rapidly approaching a close. The executive board of the union held a meeting yesterday, the object of which was to map out a course for the future After a lengthy discussion it was decided to send out "revivalists" to all important sections of the west. Agitators had been sent out Saturday, and it was intended to augment this number.

"The names of those sent out Saturday will not be given out," said President Debs to a reporter, "for fear their being arrested for inciting a strike." It was learned elsewhere, however, that Director Kern was sent to St Louis to rally the forces there Hogan was sent out over the Northern Pacific, and Goodwin was sent over the Northwestern line to use his influence with the employes of that system and if possible induce them to go out. These delegates are all members of the executive board. Other emissaries were sent out to work with employes of the many lines entering this city.

After this meeting adjourned an enthusiastic meeting was held in Uhrich's hall, in North Clark street. President Debs presiding. He made a rousing speech, reminding one of the early days of the strike.

"The strike," said he, "is now—right now—more prosperous and more encouraging than ever before. We can, and must win. The men who have gone back will again come back to us and victory is ours. Grand Chief Arthur, of the engineers, is a non-union jobber, and he will go down in history as a traitor to organized labor. He instructs his men to work with non-union men and tells them that this is honorable. He is a tool in the hands of the general managers The strike is weaker in Chicago than elsewhere," continued Debs "but it will grow stronger, just as in the west it is growing stronger every hour."

Fifteen meetings were held in different parts of the city during the afternoon and evening, several of which were addressed by Debs.

Mr. Debs said that several of his committeeman had reported to him that the Rock Island, Lake Shore, Eastern Illinois, Grand Trunk and Western Indiana men would all be out again. Nothing could be learned outside to verify this assertion however.

President Debs at the stock yards addressed a crowd of strikers who have for the most part failed to secure their old positions. He urged them to continue the strike, which he declared was never nearer to a victory than now The men agreed to stand by Debs, but at the same time expressed themselves violently against the men who have taken their places.

The switchmen and engine men were particularly loud in their protest against a surrender. The butchers also had bitter words, all these men having seen their jobs filled the day before by non-union and imported men. The opinion was expressed loudly that the war was only begun.

During the day the district was plastered and covered with bills and posters reading as follows: "Executive board of Knights of Labor do hereby advise all workingmen to keep away from the stock yards, as it is the desire of all organized bodies that all honest workingmen should do so, and we further condemn the action of the coopers in returning to work as high handed and selfish, without asking concessions for the laborers, and that all men found working in the yards today will forever be branded as enemies to organized labor."

Thomas Heathcote, one of the leaders of the Pullman strike committee, admits the strike, to far as Pullman employes are concerned, is practically over. According to his views the men have been literally starved out. The differences between employer and employes, he says, is slight—a mere matter of rent.

A Minister's Address Before the A. R U

DENVER, July 16.—Rev. Myron Reed delivered an address before a large meeting held under the auspices of the A. R. U., in which he declared he was an anarchist. He concluded by saying: "Jesus Christ was not only an anarchist, but was killed by the representatives of the law, the church and state for daring to practice humanity. Jesus Christ was an anarchist and a socialist, but I have never read of Him being a deputy sheriff. I look at this effort now being made by such men as Pullman as an effort to break up all organizations of labor, so that they can deal with the workingmen one by one and gradually get them down to pauperism and serfdom. It is right and just for every man to protect his wages and his job." He predicted that unless something was speedily done for the laboring classes, this country would be plunged into one of the greatest revolutions the world has ever seen.

An Attempt to Blow Up a Bridge.

SOUTH ENID, O. T., July 16.—An attempt was made at about 2 o'clock in the morning to blow up the bridge which crosses the creek at a distance of about 150 yards north of this town. The bridge was guarded by soldiers. The explosion did but little harm. Two carriage loads of deputies from North Enid came into Enid, when a number of men attacked them with sticks and stones and chased them out of town. The greater part of the soldiers stationed here were sent to Pond Creek yesterday by special train.

Derailed by Dynamite.

SAUK RAPIDS, Minn., July 16.—An attempt was made to wreck a Northern Pacific passenger train here by placing dynamite on the tracks. The engine was lifted clear off the tracks and the passengers were badly shaken up, but no serious damage resulted. The explosion was heard miles away. Suspicion rests upon four men who have been hanging around for the past week, but who are now missing. Deputy marshals patrol the tracks and will allow no one to approach.

Lawlessness in Indiana.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 16.—Petty lawlessness was rampant in this city Saturday night. Strikers, or their sympathizers, cut off a Pullman coach in the Evansville and Terre Haute yards, but ran when they had detached the car. Four men, one of whom is known to be a striker, assaulted the night operator at the Evansville and Terre Haute yard office. The operator drew his pistol as he was about to be struck with a cane and the would-be assailants ran. The Vandalia brought in thirty switchmen Saturday and they were put to work to-day. Another attempt was made to wreck the Chicago and Nashville express in the yards, but the switch was inspected before the train arrived and an accident avoided.

To Remove Railroad Shops.

MAMMOTH SPRINGS, Ark., July 16.—The Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis railroad is taking steps toward removing their division shops from Thayer, Mo., on account of the decided stand the town took against them in the recent strike, whereby 200 marshals had to be sent from St Louis to raise the embargo and move trains. The shops will be moved to Mammoth Springs

Will Strike Against a Reduction.

LYNN, Mass., July 16.—Saturday the employes of the River mill of the Thomson-Houston works, one of the few departments not removed to Schenectady, received notice that the existing business depression would necessitate the cutting of their salaries. The men, 200 in number, held a meeting yesterday and decided to strike if the cut was put in force.

More Shops to be Removed.

WEST SUPERIOR Wis., July 16.—The Omaha Railroad Company, on account of the frequent strike disturbances at Spooner Wis., has decided to remove its shops from there to this city, and strike the village from the railroad map, making West Superior the headquarters of this division hereafter

Texas Militia Withdrawn.

GALVESTON, Tex., July 16.—The strike is off. The militia, deputy sheriffs and police have been withdrawn. Everything in the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe is running as if no trouble had existed. Only a few of the strikers will be reinstated.

Strikers Sentenced for Contempt.

DENVER, July 16.—In the case of the Denver and Gulf strikers at Pueblo, accused of contempt of the United States court, Judge Hallet sentenced three to thirty days in jail and discharged the others

BUFFALO'S LATEST SENSATION

A Prominent Manufacturer and Politician Commits Suicide.

BUFFALO, July 16.—Bernard F Gentsch, who finished his term as postmaster of Buffalo on July 1 last, when he gave way to a Democrat, and who was an ex-member of the assembly, a large manufacturer, one of the best known Germans in Buffalo, and a prominent Republican, shot and killed himself in a field back of his house on Seneca street yesterday.

Mr. Gentsch is vice president of the Hydraulic bank He advised some time ago that the bank loan $8,000 to a produce company. It became known about a month ago that the produce company was in a bad way financially. In the meantime the bank had given the company a further loan of $4,000, and stood to lose the $12,000. Gentsch has brooded over the matter constantly for a month He owned a small amount of stock in the company, and he was fearful lest his action in recommending the loan might be construed as dishonest.

Mr Gentsch was in the assembly in 1879 President Harrison appointed him postmaster in June, 1890, and he was allowed to complete his term of four years He was a good man, and his administration as postmaster was an excellent one. He was actively involved in Republican politics in this city for many years.

FRESH TROUBLE IN COREA.

Christians Are Involved and a Number Have Been Killed.

LONDON, July 16.—A special dispatch to The Times from Chemulpo says that fresh trouble has broken out in the district in Corea where the recent rising occurred. Christians are involved in the trouble and a number of them have been killed. The French waters are now threatened, and a gunboat is proceeding to the maritime point nearest the scene of the disturbance.

A Berlin dispatch to The Standard states that the North German Gazette, a semi-official organ, commenting upon British mediation in the Chinese-Japanese dispute regarding Corea, says that such mediation does not necessarily mean a settlement of the difficulty, as it is perfectly clear that Japan wants to profit by the troubles to push the Chinese out of the peninsula. It is a warlike symptom that Japan lately, not only chartered transports, but bought them at any price as the chartered ships must be restored to their foreign owners in the event of war in order to avoid a breach of neutrality.

Flat cars are sent in front of the engines to preclude the possibility of their being ditched. Leader Harry Knox, who was arrested on Saturday as one of the men who derailed a train, is still in custody

Denial from Mr. Bayard.

LONDON, July 16.—United States Ambassador Bayard, commenting on the report that he is about to visit the United States, with a view of being returned to the United States senate to succeed Senator Higgins, says that he hopes to be able to visit his home in October, but his visit will have no political significance whatever. In any event, he declared, the rumor of his intention to contest the seat of Senator Higgins, or his expressed desire to return to the senate was entirely without foundation

THE WEEK IN CONGRESS

Consideration of the Appropriation Bills Considered.

THE CHINESE TREATY FOLLOWS.

A Possibility That the Tariff Conference Report Will Call for Alteration in Some Shape—No Settled Program for the House.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The only positive indication for the week in the senate is that the consideration of the appropriation bills will be continued. There is a probability that a day or two will be given to the Chinese treaty, and a possibility that the tariff conference report will call for attention in some shape. The taking up of the treaty will depend upon whether the managers of the appropriation bills will consent to yield the time for it, and the further consideration of the tariff question will depend upon whether the conferees shall make their report, and incidentally upon the character of the report when made.

Senator Gray, representing the administration, is very anxious to have the treaty disposed of, and he has expressed the opinion that it will be possible to get it up tomorrow or Wednesday When considered it probably will consume an entire day, if not more time, in executive session. Secretary Gresham does not conceal the concern he feels with regard to the treaty, and he has been reinforced during the past week in his efforts to secure early and favorable consideration by the presence and arguments of Minister Denby, who has visited the senate on two or three different occasions in that behalf.

When the senate adjourned Saturday the executive and judicial appropriation bill was under consideration. It is expected that when it shall be disposed of, as it is thought that it will be to-day, the Indian appropriation bill will be taken up, and with that out of the way the agricultural, District of Columbia, sundry civil and general deficiency bills will be considered probably in the order named. These will complete the list It is probable that there will be more or less debate on all of these bills, but if other questions are not allowed to interfere all probably can be disposed of during the week. Senate bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Monongahela river near Belle Vernon, Pa., was passed by the senate Saturday.

There is no settled program for the weeek in the house. Everything will be subject to displacement in favor of the conference report on the tariff bill, when one is agreed upon. The house managers in case a report is made this week are not disposed to allow too much time to be consumed by debate, especially if a disagreement is reported on the vital differences between the two houses. Though the time will be limited it is the desire of the house managers to give sufficient opportunity for the leading house members to place their positions squarely before the country The absence of Speaker Crisp, who is expected tomorrow unless the condition of his son does not improve, makes the business of the house pending the report from the conference problematical. Today is suspension day and tomorrow will probably be given to the committee on judiciary Further than this, however, no program has been mapped out.

New Plan for Taxing Whisky.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The tariff conferees have had suggested to them a plan for taxing whisky—one of the largest revenue producers—which has not heretofore been considered in either the house or senate bills. It was proposed by one of senators of the conference and the sentiment toward it within the committee is quite favorable The plan contemplates a sliding scale, the minimum tax being $1 per gallon on whisky taken out of bond at the end of five years, and advancing five cents per gallon for each year in bond beyond five years and not exceeding eight years On this basis the tax would be: Five years, $1; six years, $1.05; seven, $1.10, eight years, $1.15.

FIERCE FOREST FIRES.

Valuable Buildings in South Jersey Swept by the Flames.

EGG HARBOR CITY, N. J., July 16.—Forest fires that have been raging in this section for several days past have swept over an area of more than 5,000 acres. Last night the condition of affairs looked serious, and the residents for several miles around were called out to fight the flames. Although with some success in changing the course of the fire there is still danger that many buildings will yet be destroyed. Among the buildings already burned were those on the farm of Congressman J. J. Gardner, including his fine country residence near Bridgeport. The dwelling of Captain Gus Williams was also destroyed.

A fierce fire is now sweeping through the dense woods in the lower part of Galloway township and is headed directly toward Hewittown. It is impossible to form any estimate of the loss at present. The principal losers, however, will be the owners of the timber land, several large sections of which have been swept by the flames.

Hinckley, Minn., a small town on the Duluth road, and in the heart of the northern Minnesota mining district, is surrounded by forest fires, and unless rain falls immediately everything thereabouts will be in ashes

A special from Big Rapids, Mich., says that probably three hundred men, women and children, inhabitants of a ten mile section of the southern part of Isabella county, are homeless on account of forest fires A lumber camp of the Gale Lumber company was totally destroyed with many acres of green timber.

CLIPPERTON'S REPORT.

A Review of Trade by the British Consul at Philadelphia.

GRADUAL REVIVAL OF BUSINESS.

A Review of the Condition of Labor, Quoting from Statistics to Show the Amount of Wages Paid in Agricultural and Other Industries.

NEW YORK, July 16.—A consular report on the trade of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, made by R. C. Clipperton, British consul at Philadelphia, has been issued by the British foreign office. The report mentions the business depression that prevailed over the United States in 1892-3, and says the exact cause of this would be difficult to determine. A gradual revival of business is now, however, being realized. The report then goes on to review the condition of labor, quoting from statistics to show the amount of wages paid in the agricultural and other industries of the states in the consular district.

The shipping trade of Philadelphia is then treated at length, the report showing that in 1893 892 vessels (674 of which were British) of a total of 1,223,182 tons, entered the port, against 945 vessels (864 British) of a total tonnage of 1,509,585, in 1892. The total number of lives lost at sea on Philadelphia vessels during the past year is placed at 151, and the value of property destroyed at $1,877,550.

The report then treats of the ship building industry of Philadelphia, particularly in connection with the new American navy. It says among other things: Considerable additions are being made to what a few years ago became a practically obsolete navy and, although faults of construction, top heaviness, weakness of armor plates and such like are occasionally rumored to exist in the new ships, the very fact of ther construction means progress This is evident when it is regarded that in 1888, when the first naval contract was signed, there was not in the United States a single mill that had ever made plates and shapes of such quality required by the government's specifications.

Now, it is claimed, that there are yards and plants in this country which can produce, in any quanity and of the highest quality, any structure in steel, or iron, or brass, or any other metal, that can be produced anywhere, all of which have been created or developed during the past seven years. The greatest of these achievements are due to the enterprise, invention and skill of Pennsylvanians, assisted greatly by the immigration of British mechanics, especially in Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

Consul Clipperton says that Philadelphia has by no means retained its proportion of the export trade, and quotes statistics to prove his statement. It is alleged, he adds, that the grain trade, like many other commercial interests of Philadelphia, is handicapped by the practical dependence of the city upon a single great trunk line railroad. The bankrupt Reading system seems not now in a position to successfully compete, and the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which is essentially a grain-carrying road, is not competitive, the centre of its activities being Baltimore. By virtue of geographical position, capital and special facilities, Philadelphia should occupy a leading place, but every Northern Atlantic port controls a larger share of this business than does Philadelphia.

It is also alleged that the ocean freight rates and facilities between Philadelphia and European ports are not so favorable as the existing rates and facilities at New York and Baltimore; and it is likewise said that certain terminal charges are exacted in Philadelphia which are not exacted from the grain merchants of New York, and which are apparently only employed at Baltimore to assist in concealing the differential rates there offered. The total value of imported foreign goods at Philadelphia in 1893 was $49,806,881, against $48,762,960 in 1892. The exports from Philadelphia in 1892 amounted to 12,054,085 pounds, an increase of 8,485,660 pounds over those of 1891.

The report treats at length of the coal, petroleum, tin plate, iron and steel, and textile industries, and then speaks of the strikes that have occurred in the past two years, giving in detail the incidents of the great Homestead strike.

Banks, trusts and railways and their relations to other businesses are considered. Eleven printed pages of the report are devoted to railroad matters, their past and present condition, passengers and freight carried, hands employed, passengers killed and injured, etc., etc.

The proposal to connect Philadelphia with tidewater by a ship canal across New Jersey is favorably commented upon. The other subject matter of the report consists of references to Philadelphia's municipal affairs and to the laws recently passed by the Pennsylvania legislature

SAMOA'S ISLES AGAIN.

THOUGH A GENTLE RACE, THE SAMOANS ARE OFTEN IN TROUBLE.

Can It Be That the Whites, Particularly the Germans, Are at Fault?—Bits of History. John C. Klein, Chief Justice Ide and the Aborigines.

That beautiful nest of islands known as the Samoan group, that has been likened to a cluster of oases in a desert of green sea water, has been attracting the world's attention again.

One of the statements that have been lately put forth about the lovely little archipelago is to the effect that the present administration proposes to abandon all American interests there, and this has caused heated discussion on the part of those who take an interest in the matter.

The Samoan islands are an even dozen in number, 10 being inhabited by about 30,000 natives and 700 whites. They were known as the Navigator islands by the old geographers and were surveyed in 1839 by the United States exploring expedition under Commodore Wilkes. The chief islands, in order of size, are Sawaii, Upolo, Iutuila, Manua, Olosenga, Ofu, Manono and Apolian. The largest contains 700 square miles, while Apolima contains but seven. The islands not here named are nothing but specks of land in a waste of waves. The harbor of Apia, of which so much has been printed during the last few years, is situated on Upolo, the most important and most populous island of the group, though not the largest. The market of Pago Pago is located on Iutuila. The inferior importance of Sawaii, in spite of its superior size, is due to its physical features, which are quite unlike those of any other of the islands. Its shores are low; a peak, the approaches to which are gradual, rises in the center, and there are no permanent streams. Iutuila affords the finest scenery. The entire group appears to be of volcanic origin, though the natives possess no traditions of ancient eruptions. In 1867, however, a submarine volcano burst out near Manua, and for a fortnight jets of mud and dense columns of sand and stones were projected to a height of 2,000 feet or more.

The archipelago is situated between 169 and 172 west longitude and 13 and 14 south latitude, directly in the track of commerce between New Zealand and Hawaii. This location renders the Samoan islands the key to the southern Pacific from a naval as well as a commercial standpoint, and it is this that has made them a bone of contention for so many years. The Germans were first on the ground in the capacity of traders, beginning operations as early as 1857. In 1870 they controlled the entire trade of the group. A line of steamers began to touch at Samoa in that year, and an American company began operations. It was two years later that an agreement was made between the United States and the Samoan chiefs for the cession of the harbor of Pago Pago to this government for a coaling station. It was then proposed to annex the islands to the United States, and all the chiefs of the group joined in a petition asking that this be done. This government, however, suggested the formation of a local government composed of a native king and advised by resident whites and natives. In 1878 a treaty was signed by the Samoans and the representatives of the United States, Germany and Great Britain. By the terms of this writing the independence of the islands was guaranteed, and there was to be no interference with the domestic affairs of the Samoans except by the joint action of the three governments.

The Germans were not satisfied with the way things went on under this agreement, but it was 10 years before they did anything about it. Then they fomented trouble among the natives, and a rebellion was started against King Malietoa by a native chief named Tamasese. Tamasese won with the aid of the Teutons and was made king, the Germans deporting the legitimate monarch. A new treaty was then made with Tamasese, who granted the Germans special privileges. It was then the Americans and the English who objected, and the Malietoa party among the natives organized under a new native leader named Mataafa. Each of the three governments sent its warships there, and it was during this period of disorder that a hurricane swept all that portion of the Pacific and wrecked so many warships, carrying hundreds of brave men to the bottom with the ill fated craft.

It was then, too, that Mr. John C. Klein made his record as a newspaper correspondent of exceptional ability.

Perhaps you do not recall him without a moment's thought. Mr. Klein was sent to Samoa by a new-paper in New York and one in San Francisco. He became a good friend of Mataafa, and the Germans made a big row about it. In fact, they got to hate Klein so bitterly that they demanded of this government that he should be obliged to leave. Mr. Klein has always claimed that he did no more than his duty in reporting the facts in what seemed to him the utterly defenseless course of the Germans in making war upon the natives. He finally had to take refuge upon a United States man-of-war. He is now a resident of New York.

The upshot of all the trouble was a joint treaty, signed at Berlin in 1889, by which Malietoa was restored to the throne and all the three powers were guaranteed equal rights. An advisory board to the king, composed of a representative of each power, was established, and it was hoped that everything would then go on smoothly. But dissatisfaction soon arose among the natives. Mataafa, by whose efforts alone the restoration of Malietoa to the Samoan kingdom was rendered possible, revolted, and a bloody warfare began in 1892, which was not concluded till some time in July of last year, when Mataafa saw that his contest with Malietoa was a hopeless one. He retreated to the island of Manono, and there American, German and British warships threatened to bombard him unless he surrendered. Malietoa celebrated his victory in most barbaric fashion, displaying the heads of Mataafa's followers on polls and in other ways exhibiting his savage nature.

This year there have been fresh disturbances in Samoa, Tamasese, who was made king by the Germans in 1888, being the leader of the revolt. He had been deported to one of the smaller islands, but he could not be controlled. It is not possible to record all the details of the current complications in the space at command. It is stated in some quarters that the rebels have gained much native sympathy by reason of the action of Chief Justice Henry C. Ide of Vermont, who was formerly United States land commissioner in Samoa and was appointed to his present post in September, 1893, under the Berlin treaty of 1889, by the three signatory powers. It is stated that when there were signs of an outbreak in March last the chief justice disarmed the native forces in order to secure peace and imprisoned 23 chiefs, who were sentenced to work upon the roads, the same as if they were not chiefs at all. Of course King Malietoa approved of this, because such action tended to make him more secure upon his island throne, and his approval has heightened the adverse feeling of his disaffected subjects. Malietoa is described by those who have met him as a man of inferior mental caliber as well as of the most savage cruelty. When he has distinguished guests to entertain, it is said that he brings out nine or ten music boxes and sets them all going at once. Mentally Mataafa is said to be upon a much higher plane.

Notwithstanding their bloody fights, the Samoans are spoken of by those who profess to know them best as an exceptionally gentle race. They are physically very near perfection. Mr. Klein says that they are wonderfully versed in the world's affairs, and that many speak the three chief European languages fluently. He has many letters from Mataafa, which show him to be a man of keen perceptions and good reasoning powers.

Like most aborigines of the isles of the sea, the Samoans do not relish hard work, and so fertile are their islands that it is not necessary for them to make great exertions in order to obtain food. As for raiment, until the whites invaded Samoa the natives were satisfied to be clad in the circumambient air alone, save for an apron of leaves, and their dwellings are for the most part simplicity itself. They are circular in form, from 30 to 40 feet in diameter and with side walls so low that the houses are spoken of as "principally roof." This latter is cone shaped, thatched and rises about 25 feet above the ground. Each house has but one room, but at night this apartment is divided by little tents of matting into sleeping places, under which ingeniously made instruments of torture, consisting of bamboo sticks and matting and used as beds, are placed. Except for their leaf aprons the Samoans are cleanly, but inasmuch as these articles of apparel are too fragile to bear washing they are worn uncleansed till they drop to pieces. The native Samoan in his native state is not a pleasant creature to be near, however, because of the universal custom of smearing the body with rancid cocoanut oil. They bathe the hair daily in a solution of lime to give it a reddish tinge. The native religion, singularly enough, resembles the Greek mythology in many ways, and before the introduction of Christianity polygamy was largely practiced.

CHARLES APPLEBEE.

What do you Wish for, in the way of easy work? You can have it, if you'll use Pearline. With anything you can think of, that water doesn't hurt, the easiest way to wash it or to clean it is to take Pearline. You can't do any harm, by doing away with that wearing rub, rub, rub. Pearline, with almost everything, there are special reasons why you should use Pearline. For instance: There's no shrink to flannels, if they're properly washed with it.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled. If your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 565 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

My Name is Wilson: I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

NEWBURGHERS IN LUCK.

Four of Them Are Heirs to an Immense Fortune.

About a year ago, Mrs. Matilda Moench died in Jersey City at the age of ninety-six years. She had a life interest in property in England, Germany and Austria, which she never regarded as of much value, and left it untouched for the benefit of her heirs.

The property has constantly increased in value, however, until now it is valued at $25,000,000.

It has been discovered that Harry Acker, who works in the chair factory, and Herbert, Charles and George McDonald, the former in the employ of a milk dealer, and the others "men of all work," all residing in Newburgh, are among the twenty-two heirs to the estate.

LITERARY NOTES.

—Mrs. Sherwood says that beauty is "dynamite" in her article which opens the interesting pages of the July Cosmopolitan. Beauty is always a fascinating subject, and Mrs. Sherwood's discussion is an especially interesting one. That the July Cosmopolitan is a mid-summer number is shown in many directions. Three short stories, including one of sport and adventure, two travel articles, and other light matter, make up 128 pages of charming summer reading.

—In the forthcoming (August) number of The Forum there will be three striking articles treating of the recent startling manifestati ons of crime—the great railroad strike and its causes, the assassination of Carnot, and the police revelations in New York. Discussions of these subjects are grouped under the general title, "The sentimental dealing with crime and its increase," and following these is a fairly startling review of the recent world-wide increase of crime, by Mr. Henry Charles Lea, of Philadelphia. These make one of the most noteworthy groups of strong and timely articles that have ever appeared in our periodical literature.

Re-amputated a Horse's Tail.

From the Port Jervis Union.

Dr. J. S. Sutcliffe, V. S., of Middletown, was called to Port Jervis, Friday, to perform a surgical operation on a horse, owned at Dingman's Ferry, which had been docked in New York by some butcher, evidently. The wound refused to heal, the bone was protruding and sloughing, and the amputation was in every detail a most bungling and brutal operation. Dr. Sutcliffe found it necessary to make a new amputation.

Newburgh's Active Acting Mayor.

During the absence of Mayor Odell, of Newburgh, on his summer vacation, Alderman E. M. Murfeldt is acting Mayor, and it would appear that he proposes to make use of his opportunity, for, on Saturday, he issued an order to the City Marshal to see to it that all saloons were closed on Sundays and between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock a. m. on week days.

As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month Office hours from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

THEY SHOT TO KILL.

A Fatal Duel the Result of a Remark In Fun to a Pretty Woman.

A pretty Spanish girl sat by the window of her house at El Monte Monday evening when a woman with a number of Mexicans drove by. One of them, named Juan Orosco, saw the girl. His eyes kindled with admiration, and he called to her in Spanish, "Oh, my pretty one!" As a consequence of the remark a duel to the death was fought between the pretty girl's husband and the young man, and the girl is now a widow. The contest was before witnesses, but surgeons and seconds were omitted.

The wagon had got about a mile away from the house when the sounds of a horse's hoofs were heard, and soon a man was seen to drive up, beating his horse in a vicious manner to increase his speed. The rider of the animal was Garcia, the young woman's husband, and he was gesticulating wildly to the men in the wagon. The wagon was brought to a standstill, and Garcia drove up. He berated the men for insulting his wife. The men in the wagon were inclined to regard the matter as a joke, but Garcia was terribly in earnest. He challenged Orosco to get off the wagon and fight him. Orosco, thinking Garcia meant an issue at fisticuffs, jumped from the wagon with alacrity. He was much the younger man and more active and lithe, and as he jumped from the wagon he called to his companions to watch how quickly he would "do" his opponent up.

Scarcely had Orosco got a few feet away from the wagon when Garcia pulled a revolver and began shooting at him. Orosco was somewhat dazed at first, but he pulled out a revolver and returned the fire. It is said that Garcia fired four shots and Orosco three, but anyway, after Orosco was through shooting, Garcia was heard to give a cry and fell back in the road. One of the bullets from Orosco's weapon had gone through his head. Orosco was shot through the right hand.

When Garcia fell, Orosco expressed his regret, and with his comrades drove back to El Monte. The jury brought in a verdict of killing in self defense.—Los Angeles Cor. San Francisco Examiner.

HOW PRIVATE HOUSES ARE WORKED BY INGENIOUS CROOKS.

Some of the New Tricks Well Calculated to Deceive the Cautious—Calling For Articles Just Delivered—A Cunning Game In Connection With Lost Articles.

During the cold weather of the early part of the year an eastern lady visiting at a well known house in the heart of the city ordered from a prominent furrier a costly wrap of Russian sable. Alterations in the garment were necessary, and as they would require time and the lady was about returning east she requested her hostess to receive the wrap and forward it to her. The long box was delivered on the promised day, and the sable wrap was just being packed for expressage when the front door bell again pealed sharply, and a message, purporting to come from the furrier, was brought.

It was to the effect that an alteration, particularly directed, had been overlooked. The furrier requested the return of the garment and the mistake would be rectified that same afternoon. The huge box was about to be intrusted to the messenger when a fortuitous impulse came to its guardian. She returned word to the messenger that she declined to take the responsibility of permitting anything so valuable to be taken away without a written order, but would herself call at the furrier's the following morning. That call confirmed suspicions. The furrier had authorized no one to recover the wrap. It was easy to draw conclusions.

Again, and yet more recently, a lady resident of West Walnut street found on her return home one mild afternoon that a valuable jewel watch had fallen from its chatelaine and left no traces behind. That evening her husband hastened to have the loss advertised in the morning papers. At breakfast the "Lost and Found" columns were carefully read. The valuable chatelaine watch was described in the "Lost" lines, and to the joy of husband and wife another "ad." was found detailing the discovery of a lady's jeweled watch on the street in the same vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Smith, as they may be called, were still discussing breakfast and the lost watch when a man was announced.

"About a lost watch," so ran his message, "picked up the previous evening on the pavement below."

"My watch, I'm confident," she exclaimed, springing from her chair.

"So you said a few moments ago, when you read the 'Found' advertisement," remonstrated her husband. But she hurried through the doorway, the caution, "Be careful what you say," ringing in her ears.

"You lost a watch: I found one," so began the man. "Describe yours, please." Mrs. Smith did so, while the stranger kept his left hand closed, seemingly, over the lost trinket.

"Your watch number—that I must have," continued the man as she finished a brief but clear description. Quite impressed by his concise, businesslike manner, she consulted a card on which she had methodically jotted down her treasure's number. The man repeated the figures slowly after her.

"After all, this doesn't appear to be your watch," he said coolly, exhibiting a cheap timepiece of rolled gold.

Grumbling over the wasted moments, she quickly donned her street suit and hastened to the neighboring house from where the "Found" notice had issued. She was met on the threshold by the neighbor herself, whose excited greeting was:

"So glad we were the fortunate finders of your beautiful watch. Bridget saw it shining on the pavement as she was lighting the vestibule lamp. When your brother called 20 minutes or so ago, we were as pleased to give him the watch as he was to get it. Of course we were careful to have it described, which he did accurately, giving the exact number," etc.

Mrs. Smith is still minus her pretty jewel, but she has learned a costly lesson.

The audacity of these house thieves is often really amusing. They will go to any extent and take the greatest risk to accomplish their ends. One more example like the aforementioned, a true one: In a commodious down town residence a valuable ornament in the library is a bust of Andrew Jackson, cut in solid marble by a master hand. The house's head, now in the "great majority" ranks, was a man noted for his wide sympathies and generous views. It did not excite much comment at his house when, one day, a couple of men called and stated that the colonel had directed them to carry the Jackson bust to his office, not far distant, where it was to figure in an early political demonstration.

The ladies of the family were not at home, but an old Irish woman, who had for years been a fixture in the kitchen, caught sight of the bust as it was being carried out of the door. She was attached to the family she had served so long, their interests were hers, and she managed to gain upon the two men, who were hurrying down the street, burdened with the heavy marble.

"You take that figger right back to the house," commanded the aproned captain. "Take it back, or I'll call a perleeceman. Ef the colonel wanted that figger, he'd a-written fur it. You kerry it back."

The men saw that the dumpy, calico gowned maid meant business. They did "kerry" the bust back, else the colonel would have mourned a valuable ornament, for he had not authorized its removal.—Philadelphia Times.

MONDAY, JULY 16, 1894.

During the first six months of the present year 116 new factories for the manufacture of textile fabrics began operations in this country. During the same time last year 127 new textile factories were started. Evidently some people have faith in the country and are not afraid of tariff changes.

Ex-President Harrison heartily commends President Cleveland's policy toward the strike and says that he did just what he should have done. That ought to silence all adverse criticism. When Harrison is satisfied with Cleveland and cannot help praising him, Cleveland must be so nearly right that even Altgeld will own, when he gets over his mad, that the President was right in ordering United States troops to Chicago.

The cruiser Minneapolis on her official trial trip, Saturday, maintained an average of 23 05 knots or 26.22 miles an hour, and earned for her builders, Cramp & Son, a premium of $402,500. For over six knots the Minneapolis maintained a speed of 24 20 knots or 27 90 miles an hour. The vessel's speed was at one time at a rate of 26 09 knots or 30.04 miles an hour. The Minneapolis is by all odds the fasteat vessel of her class in the world.

While the colored Republicans of Alabama are supporting the Democratic candidates, the white Republicans, led by federal officeholders, are working hard for the Kolb-Populist ticket. If the administration had done its duty to the Democrats of Alabama and the rest of the country there would be no Republicans, holding on to federal offices, to rally the tag end of their party in opposition to Democratic candidates.

The Pullman strike and boycott may have an effect on Pullman interests that was not thought of by Pullman or his employes. Mr. Davis, of Minnesota, has introduced in the Senate a bill placing sleeping and dining cars under the supervision of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. There is a marked disposition on the part of Congress to restrict the Pullman Company in the matter of rates and to bring it under the jurisdiction of federal laws to the end that the complaints made against it for many years may be effectually met.

A Chicago man with a turn for statistics has figured out the railroad strike in Chicago as having had the effect of saving many lives. The reports show that seven persons were killed by police, deputies and soldiers during the twelve days of the strike. Last year, 700 persons were killed at the grade crossings in the city, or nearly two a day, so that had the railroads been operated as usual they would have ground out twenty-four lives at crossings and the strike is therefore to be credited with saving seventeen lives.

The railroads of America are having tough times enough without being persecuted by strikers. The Railroad Age and Northwestern Railroader, in its issue of Saturday, gives some figures about railway bankruptcies for the first half of 1894. In six months receivers have been appointed for twenty-three companies, owning 2,988 miles of road, and representing bonded debt and capital stock aggregating $260,101,000. This makes a total, in the last eighteen months, of ninety-seven railway companies, owning nearly 32,000 miles of road and representing more than $2,000,000,000 in bonds and stock, which have gone into the hands of receivers. This number of roads, added to the number in receivers' hands at the end of 1892, makes a total of 152 railway companies now operated by the courts.

The commission of physicians appointed to examine into Mrs. Halliday's mental condition having reported that she is insane, Gov. Flower has commuted her sentence to imprisonment for life. There was nothing else for him to do, for in this State we don't execute lunatics. It will be difficult, however, to convince the great mass of people that it would not have been the part of wisdom to have given the people the benefit of any doubt as to Mrs. Halliday's mental condition and let the sentence be executed on the assumption that she is sane. Nothing is gained by prolonging such a life and supporting her at the public expense. She is not useful and can never be made ornamental and constant care and watchfulness will have to be exercised or, when another fit of homicidal mania comes upon her, she will depopulate the Matteawan Asylum to which she will be transferred.

One reason for Gov. Flower's postponement of his visit to this city may have been that he feared that his action in commuting Mrs. Halliday's sentence would not meet with general approval, and remained away to give popular indignation a chance to blow over.

After Scarlet Fever

My little son Lemuel, was left with a gathering in his head and a large swelling on one side of his neck, which caused his head to be drawn over towards one shoulder. This continued for some time, and all we could do and all the doctor's medicine we could give him, were of no use. But we began to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking only one bottle he was perfectly cured, and has been in good health ever since. My faith in Hood's

The New, Cheap Substitute for Common Plaster.

It is very hard and very adhesive; it does away with the warping and shrinkage of doors and sashings, and the building is not saturated with water, as it necessarily must be when common plaster is used; it costs originally but little more than lime plaster, and in the end its superior qualities make it immeasurably cheaper; it saves waiting several weeks or months for the buildings to dry out; it does not crack or fall off, even in the case of leakage; it is applied easily by any good plasterer; it is the only material with which repairing can be done neatly and "to stay."

The remains were viewed by hundreds of people at the close of the services and the floral offerings resting upon and about the casket were extensive and beautiful. At 10:40 the funeral party left for Walton, and this morning proceeded by wagon to Downsville, where the interment took place. The pall bearers were W. G. Hull, Wm. Budd, W. G. THE 24TH AT STATE CAMP

AN UNPLEASANT FIRST EXPERIENCE IN A DRENCHING RAIN.

Separate Companies from Along the Hudson and the 65th Regiment of Buffalo, Their Camp Comrades—Applause for the 24th's Fine Marching—A Quiet Sunday—Welcome Visitors—Col. Welch's Pet Bear—Notes and Incidents.

STATE CAMP, PEEKSKILL N. Y., July 15th.

After an uneventful trip, the 24th reached State Camp at 11 o'clock, yesterday morning, and entered upon its fifth tour of duty.

We were the first company of the new detail to arrive in camp, the other separate companies, which, together with the 24th, form the 10th Provisional Battalion, not arriving until about 3:30 o'clock.

The other companies are the 5th, of Newburgh; 14th, of Kingston; 15th, of Poughkeepsie, and 16th, of Catskill. The 65th Regiment, of Buffalo, completes the detail for this week.

A VERY DAMP RECEPTION.

The troops marched in and out of camp in the midst of a heavy thunder shower. The 24th had stacked arms near the guard house, waiting orders assigning it quarters. There was considerable delay, which resulted in giving the company a thorough drenching before it could reach the street to which it had been assigned. The new members therefore started out with an initiation in the most disagreeable feature in camp life—duty in a rain storm.

Our quarters are directly opposite the State colors and the street is considered one of the most desirable in camp.

The men lost no time in securing tent equipments from the battalion quartermaster and soon had everything in readiness for the night.

After supper, full dress uniforms were donned and the company marched on the line for evening parade, formerly known as dress parade.

THE MARCHING OF "OURS" APPLAUDED.

The 24th "took the cake" while marching in review before the officers, one of whom was so much impressed with the fine marching of the company that he forgot the dignity of his position and applauded until "called down" by one of his brother officers. The regiment had passed in front of us and proceeded without particular notice past the spectators on the bluff at the end of the parade ground, but when the 24th reached that point the boys were greeted with a hearty outburst of applause from the spectators. Many compliments were paid the officers for the fine appearance of the company on the field.

FIRST NIGHT IN CAMP.

In the evening the 65th Regiment Band gave a band concert in the officers' street. The band is an excellent one, although but recently organized, and the evening concerts promise to be an interesting feature of the week's tour.

The old men, with few exceptions turned in at an early hour, but some of the new men, tried to make a night of it. "Taps," however, which are sounded at 11 o'clock, found nearly all the men in their tents ready for sleep.

THE MORNING'S DUTIES.

At 4:15 this morning, reveille was sounded and a few minutes later the company was formed for roll call, after which coffee and bread were served.

The men then turned to and "dressed" the tents and street, which occupied the time until 7:30, at which time the call to breakfast was sounded.

The food is up to the standard of previous years and all the men are ready for meals when the musicians sound the call.

DETAILS FOR GUARD DUTY.

The first guard detail included the following men from the 24th: Corporal Wallace, Privates Millspaugh, Barnes, Bailey, Brinkerhoff, Smith and Houston.

For Sunday, the detail was as follows: Officer of the Guard, Lieut. L. S. Stivers, Corporal Hoar, Privates Bush, Tepe, Purps, Sliter, Brown: Supernumerary, M. A. Stivers.

For Monday's guards, the following members were detailed: Corporal Cooper, Privates Gausman, Stivers, Squier, Bannister, Garrison; Supernumerary, C. Shafer.

The company has been minus the services of Coroner and First Sergeant Decker, who was called to hold an inquest at Monroe, just before the company started from the Armory. Sergeant Knapp has acted in the capacity of first sergeant and has discharged the duties in a manner, which reflects great credit upon himself and the company.

THE CLEANEST STREET.

After breakfast and guard mount, the street was inspected and again the 24th was complimented as having the cleanest and neatest street in camp.

After inspection the company was relieved until the call for dinner was sounded, after which the entire camp detail was ordered to a school of instruction in guard duty. The instructing officer was Captain, better known as "Peggy" Thurston.

This gentleman, who was formerly a captain in the 22nd Regiment in New York, is without exception one of the finest officers in the guard and his lecture was delivered in language which could not possibly be misunderstood. He is a great favorwith the men in camp.

During the afternoon the men were at liberty to do just as they pleased until 5:30, supper time, which was followed by evening parade.

WELCOME VISITORS.

Several former Middletowners visited camp during the day. Among them were Philip G. Roosa, a former member of the 24th, Frank Florence and Floyd Divers. Messrs. Emerson, Predmore, Lounsberry and Knibbs, of Middletown, arrived in camp at 3:30, having made the journey on their bicycles. Another welcome visitor was ex-Corporal W. George Hastings, of the 10th Separate Company of Newburgh.

The separate companies in camp are composed of a fine lot of men, and the boys are making acquaintances among them, which will insure a good time during the week.

COL. WELCH'S EDUCATED BEAR.

One of the greatest attractions in the camp is a bear, which was brought into camp by Colonel Welch of the 65th Regiment. It was captured when a cub, at Tonawanda, when the regiment was called out to suppress a strike several years ago The animal is perfectly tame, but seems to recognize the difference between the white and blue stripes, which designate the regiment and the separate companies, as several members of the latter have discovered when any undue familiarities were attempted. A member of the 5th Separate Company had the sleeve of his uniform torn, and several bad bruises on his arm will remind him for some time to come that bears are "pesky critters" to fool with.

The bear will box and wrestle with its friends and can climb a tree like a monkey. It is more than probable, however, that the animal will spend the balance of the week in the guard house, or some other place of confinement, for from a remark dropped by Captain Thurston in his lecture, its presence in camp was not looked upon with favor by the "powers that be" in "Luxury Row."

There are a number of newspaper men in camp from New York and the cities which are represented by the separate companies. Several of them called upon the ARGUS correspondent to-day and they appear to be a first class lot of men.

EXPERIENCES IN STORE FOR NEW MEN.

The new men of the company think that they have had a picnic thus far, but to-morrow night, after they have gone through the experience of the early morning drill, the "Italian" drill, and other duties which they will be called upon to perform, it is more than probable that they will be ready to turn in when bed time arrives.

So far no one has reported on the sick list, and the boys are all in excellent condition to perform the duties of a soldier. A. E. N.

AN O AND W EMPLOYE INJURED.

John Halligan Suffers a Comminuted Fracture of the Arm at the Machine Shops.

John Halligan, a machinist, employed in the O. & W. shops, who resides at No. 287 North street, met with a serious accident this morning. He was at work on the drilling machine when his trousers' leg caught in some part of the machinery, and he put down his hand to release it, when his arm was caught in such a way that both bones were broken just below the elbow.

Mr. Halligan was placed aboard of an electric car and taken to Thrall Hospital and later was conveyed to his home.

The injury is a serious one, being a comminuted fracture.

FELL DOWN STAIRS.

Patrick McGrail Sustains Painful Injuries as a Result of a Mishap.

Yesterday morning, when Mr. Patrick McGrail, who resides on Everett street, arose and started down stairs, he missed his footing at the head of the stairs, and fell to the bottom.

Members of his family, hearing the noise, ran from their rooms and found him lying insensible at the foot of the stairs.

Mr. McGrail was picked up and placed in bed and a physician summoned. He recovered consciousness in about two hours and complained of pains in his back.

He was considerably better this morning and it is now believed that no serious injuries were sustained.

A Rumored Elopement.

The gossips in this city are just now reveling in a bit of scandal, in which a well known young man and a married woman are the parties chiefly interested. Both of the parties referred to have disappeared from town and it is supposed they went together. The woman left her husband two or three months ago and it is reported has been quite intimate with the young man since. She is the mother of two children, whom she deserted.

Wanted Homes for Three "Dear Little Boys"

Miss Proudfoot, of the Eight Ward Mission, from which the thirteen Fresh Air girls are to be sent on Wednesday, has written to Mr. Evans asking him if he cannot find homes for three "dear little boys," among the rest. He has replied "send them along and will place them." Now, who will take one boy, or two boys, or all three of them?" Don't all speak at once.

Won't Own Debs.

The Port Jervis Gazette indignantly denies the story published in a Middletown paper, to the effect that Eugene V. Debs, the President of the American Railway Union, was at one time a resident of that village and organized the Brakemen's Brotherhood.

The Erie's Coney Island Excursion.

The Erie's New York and Coney Island excursion took about seventy-five people from this city, yesterday. On their return a large number of the excursionists missed the excursion train and had to buy tickets for No. 3, thus making their trip a very expensive one.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for years, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost putrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan, 242 W. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. MRS. LEASE'S FAMILY

HUSBAND AND CHILDREN OF THE KANSAS JOAN OF ARC.

Mr. Charles Lease Has No Personal Ambition, but Is Very Proud of His Wife. They Have Four Bright Children, Two Boys and Two Girls.

We know all about Mrs. Lease, or at least as much as we need to know, concerning the versatility of that busy woman who is devoting her time and talents to what she believes to be the general welfare. Of her husband and children, however, very little has been printed, and much curiosity on some of them has been expressed by admirers of the Kansas Joan of Arc.

C. E. Chapin, a St. Louis Post-Dispatch reporter, recently visited the Lease homestead at Wichita, and if his report is reliable, as it seems to be, it clears up a good deal of the mystery that has surrounded the home life of Mrs. Lease. He found that Charles L. Lease Mr. Joan of Arc, the flippant correspondent calls him) had been discharged from the drug store where he was formerly employed about six months ago on account of the hard times. Then he went to the Lease home at 235 North Wabash avenue, a large frame house surrounded by cottonwood trees and flanked with flower and vegetable beds. Here is Mr. Chapin's own story of his reception:

"When I rapped at the door, an old man, with long, white mustache, almost as bald as an infant, and with only a thin fringe of white hair to protect the back of his neck, responded. He was carelessly and shabbily dressed, and there was a week's growth of beard on his face. I told him I wanted to see Mr. Lease.

"'That's me.'

"I introduced myself and was given a cordial welcome and invited to step in. He gave me the best chair in the house and then sat down and freely answered every question I asked. He got photographs of all except himself, explaining that he had not had a picture taken in many years.

"While we were talking I sketched his face as well as I could, and I think it looks very much like him. He was brought up on a farm near Freeport, Ills., and left home to become an apothecary, finally moving to Kansas, where he married Joan of Arc. He failed in business, and with the failure ambition fled. He impressed me as a man who had been crushed by adversity, and who had not the slightest desire to ever make another effort to get on his feet. He is very proud of his wife and children.

"The children were brought in, the father fairly aglow with pride as he introduced them. Charley, the eldest, a boy of 19, is attending the state university at Lawrence, so I did not see him, but was told by the others, who think he is the smartest boy on earth, that he is studying law and has published several volumes of verses.

"Louise comes next, aged 13. She is a second edition of her mother and a wonderful child. She is as ladylike in her deportment as a cultured woman of 30, and she can converse as intelligently and use as good language as many girls who are twice her age. She is the youngest pupil in the high school, and this is her second year.

"Annie, her sister, or 'Jim,' as the family call her, is unlike Louise. She would rather ride a bicycle or climb a tree than study, and it is her ambition to be a famous musician and painter. Ben-Hur is a bright, roguish boy, as mischievous as any boy can be, yet grave and sedate in addressing strangers. He wants to be an author.

"All of the children are devoted to their mother and speak of her as the noblest and grandest woman in the world. If any one has an idea that either the children or the husband feels that Mrs. Lease neglects them, he should spend a morning at their home, as I did, and he will speedily become convinced that he is mistaken. They would like to see more of her, but they think that she has far greater duties to occupy her time than attending to their small wants."

Ben-Hur. Louise. Charles Henry. Grace.

THE LEASE CHILDREN.

Before visiting Wichita the correspondent had a talk with Mrs. Lease at Olathe, in which she said that Charley (her husband) wrote to her every day and, as in all respects a model husband, added naively, "He lets me do anything I wish to do, and he wouldn't quarrel with me for the world."

WALLED UP TO DIE.

The Fate of Mon Chong, the Chinese Assassin of Portland, Made Public.

Chin Mow Sing, better known as Frank Sing, a Chinese resident of the highbinder district, told Chief of Police Lee a very singular story, which the chief is inclined to believe is true.

Two months ago, early one Sunday morning, a Chinese woman was cowardly murdered by having her throat cut on the sidewalk on Second and Pine streets. The detective force worked incessantly to place its hands upon the assassin, but all to no purpose. Frank Sing belongs to the company of which the murdered Chinese woman was a member, and he says that the murderer was apprehended three weeks ago by his company in San Francisco. Mon Chong, the assassin, had no personal feeling against his victim, but killed her for $300. One of the members of Chong's company, cognizant of the crime, turned Judas and for $500 paid him by the rival company he betrayed the murderer, who had fled to San Francisco. His captors did not hand him over to the regular authorities, but he was tried by a Chinese court, which sentenced him to be immured between airtight brick walls, where he would slowly end his life by suffocation. Sing declares that such sentences have often been executed on this coast by the Chinese.—Portland (Or.) Dispatch.

PRETTY PEARLINA'S PASSION; OR,
The Most Loveliest Cash Girl In Hoboken.

A THRILLING TALE OF PROUD PRIDE.

BY MRS. GASOLINE PHLEGMMY,
Author of "Turnfruitt's Ten Lovers," "Why She Slapped Him," "Only a Cook Lady," etc., etc.

(This Story will not be Published in Book Form.)

CHAPTER I.

"I'm the most beautiful beauty that ever was seen, but I can't be happy without a rich lover and a silver hairpin."

Pretty Pearlina was walking along the road which extended from the city to the little village where she lived with her widowed mother and father and 16 little orphans. The sky was blue, with here and there a piece of white cloud and several very nice roiled gold streaks from the sun, which was going down real fast in the east. Green grass covered the fields like a carpet of velveteen, and upon the forelimbs of the stately oaks sweet songsters poured out great streams of fluid melody.

Lightly tripping herself up through this nice scene of Mamma Nature, Pretty Pearlina, the most loveliest cash lady in Hoboken, made a delicious picture. In fact, it would be real mean to call it less than a mezzotint. She was as beautiful as a dream after the ball. Her threadbare garments—which she wore very short in the skirt and sleeves and low in the neck, after the manner of cash lady heroines—did not conceal the exquisite wondrousness of her sylphlike form. But there was a tiny frown upon her lovely face, and her rosebud lips wore quite a good sized pout.

"I'm the most beautiful beauty that ever was saw," she murmured, stamping her dainty foot, "but I can't be happy without a rich lover and a silver hairpin."

She did not see the footsteps of her floorwalker behind her, and she jumped 'way up when he hissed between his front teeth:

"Aha, aha, pretty Pearlina! So I have discovered why you have refused my heart and both of my hands every Saturday night for two years! You hope to capture some Hoboken swell! But it shall not be! Never-r-r-r-r! I swear!"

Before he could swear a tall, handsome young man, with a curled mustache and creased pants, sprang forward and threw him upward out of sight.

"Oh, what a lovely man!" screamed Pearlina to herself. "I wonder if he would fall in love with me at first sight if I was rich?"

She raised her hinged eyelids, fringe and all, to his, and a double edged pain of delight hit both their hearts at once. In a moment he had wound his new overcoat sleeves several times around her slender waist, and as she leaned her back hair against his chrysanthemum their mouths met in one long, wide kiss.

"Pretty Pearlina," he cried, instinctively knowing her name and address, "be mine, and you shall have a silver hairpin and never do anything but breathe."

At that moment a cold, haughty beauty, with the usual quantity of curling lip, disdainful eye and cruel sneer, confronted the lovers.

"Aha, Reginald Smythe-Smith, so this is the lowness with which you keep your promise to me. Aha! And you, you nasty, horrid thing! You think to win him from me, but in one instant and a half you die!"

A flash of steel, and a silver hairpin lay interred in Pearlina's cream puff sleeve. With remarkable presence of mind our hero extracted it without pain and presented it to our heroine as a betrothal gift.

"Ain't it nice?" cried Pretty Pearlina, using her flutelike tones.

Hearing a sharp click, Reginald let up on the shower of assorted kisses that he was raining upon the lovely turned up face near his ascot and groaned, "All is lost!" For the haughty beauty covered them with an army musket that she had concealed in the folds of her dress.

Pretty Pearlina pressed his collar button into the stern of Reginald's neck and remarked, "E-e-ee!"

Hearing a rush of air above them our hero looked up.

"Saved!" he yelled, and even as he spoke down came the floor walker on top of the villainess. Our hero had thrown him so high that he had just returned to earth. A loud explosion followed, and Literally True.

Mrs. Squire—James, the doctor says the milk you've been selling me has microbes in it and is unfit to drink.

The Milkman (hotly)—It ain't a bit worse than the lake water you drink every day.—Chicago Tribune.

The Hero and His Wife.

To the practices or heroes brave his life had been conformable.
There were no deeds which they performed which he found unperformable,
And all the aims which they pursued he said he'd found pursuable,
And all the feats which they had done he found were quickly doable.

For any act of bravery he said he was reliable,
And all achievements he would try, he promised, that were tryable,
And any mountain he would climb, if its ascent was possible,
And any ocean he would cross that any man found crossable.

For killing grizzly bears and such he said he was invincible.
They could not make him dodge or wince, because he wasn't winceable.
He'd killed with perfect ease, he said, all brutes and beasts discoverable.
One slash from his almighty hand, and they were irrecoverable.

His strength was most ineffable, was wondrous and inscrutable.
For killing sharks and elephants peculiarly 'twas suitable.
He'd made the roaring catamount no longer recognizable
And pulverized the ramping bull and found him pulverizable.

In savage islands of the sea he'd fought the bloody cannibal,
He'd killed and tamed fierce dragons wild and found them very tamable.
He claimed in killing monstrous snakes that he was very capable.
No boa constrictor could escape, for he was unescapable.

He'd fought with hippopotami with fierceness inconceivable,
In ways he'd ask you to believe, were they not unbelievable.
No word of fear escaped his lips, no word, aye! not a syllable,
When he killed the Bengal tiger, and he found him very killable.

His wife here entered in the store; her look was was most indomitable;
He wilted in her scorching gaze, her fierceness so formidable.
"Come home and tend the twins," she said. "I wish to make you usable."
And, ah! the way she yanked him home was really inexcusable.

Up Comes the North Street Pavement—Losses of Life and Property by Lightning—Interesting Facts and Figures Compiled by the Weather Bureau.

When the North street pavement was being laid bets were freely offered that in less than six months it would be torn up to fix a water or gas pipe, make a sewer connection or for some other purpose. I don't know that any bets were made, but if there were, those who bet against the pavement have won, hands down, for up a section of it came, this morning. The work being done, to-day, is to change the grade between the post office and the sewer basin at Orchard street, where Saturday's storm demonstrated that water will not run up hill. When this is fixed as it would have been in the first place had the city engineer's lines been right, the section opposite Orchard street will be relaid, the fall from the centre of the street to the outer edge of the paving being so slight and the street grade so nearly a dead level, that the water from Orchard street, instead of flowing into the sewer basins on the east side of the street, flows across the tracks and into the catch basin on the west side.

The Weather Bureau has published a summary of reports from its observers as to losses of life and property by lightning, during the past eight years, which contains many facts of interest. During the period named not far from 200 persons have been killed by lightning in each year. The annual average value of the property destroyed by lightning was $1,500,000.

In 1890 New York was the most unfortunate State with respect to property damaged by lightning. Pennsylvania and Ohio followed hard after, both of them away up in the hundreds of thousands of dollars, while Kansas reports only one fire worth $400, and Mississippi two, which averaged $75 a piece. The following year Pennsylvania led the way, closely followed by Missouri, Ohio and New York, with Delaware, Louisiana and Rhode Island at the opposite end of the report. In 1892 New York was again at the head, having lost nearly twice as much as in either of the other years. Next in order were Pennsylvania, New Jersey, North Dakota and Ohio. Florida and Mississippi lost the least that year—$325 each. During the nine years ending with 1892, 5,335 barns, 664 dwellings and 104 churches were struck by lightning. The destruction of barns is usually greatest in New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Indiana and New Jersey. In the destruction of dwellings Pennsylvania and New York head the list with an equal number. Connecticut and Maine come next, and are also paired.

The report shows that a building standing alone in the country is five times as likely to be struck as a building in the city and that a barn is four times as likely to be struck as a house. With regard to trees, the oak has been most frequently struck and the beech suffers least frequently, the proportions reported being fifty oaks to one beech. It is also settled by numerous instances that the old saying, "lightning never strikes twice in the same place," like many other articles of popular belief, is without foundation in fact. Right here in Middletown there have been several instances in which lightning has struck in the same place. One house on Bennett Hill has been struck twice within the past ten or twelve years, and it's a pretty good house yet, and old residents tell of a barn that stood not far from town, that lightning strokes made three ineffectual attempts to burn. Investigation of this subject may lead to some useful conclusions as to what extent the character of the land on which buildings are located influences the frequency of lightning strokes and a more practical result will be the determination of what construction of buildings is most liable to destruction by lightning.

A Baby's Life Saved.

WATSON, N. Y., April 11, 1894.—When my baby was six months old she was taken very badly with diarrhœa. A doctor came every day for a week. Baby got worse, until she could notice nothing at all. I got so worried I called on our druggists and he recommended Dr. Hand's Diarrhœa Mixture. I got it and just one-half a bottle cured my baby and saved her life.

FOR SUNDAY OBSERVANCE

The Baptist Young People's Union Asks the Young People's Societies of Other Churches to Unite in a Movement for the Stricter Enforcement of Sunday Laws.

The Baptist Young People's Union of the First Baptist Church has begun a movement looking toward a more strict observance of Sunday as a day of rest and cessation from all but necessary business than is at present practiced in our city.

Yesterday, this society sent committees to eleven of the churches and their Young People's societies with a statement of its purpose, and a request for the appointment of a committee of three to meet with similar committees from the other churches in the lecture room of the First Baptist Church, on Thursday evening, July 19th, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of forming some plan for the practical accomplishment of the above object. All of the societies so visited expressed approval of the movement and a willingness to give all possible aid, and it is expected that a full representation of the christian societies of the city will attend the union committee meeting next Thursday evening.

It is desirable that this meeting may be thoroughly representative of the christian sentiment of the city, and it is hoped that those christian societies that have not received a formal invitation may feel free to send representatives to the meeting referred to.

The B. Y. P. U. desires to disavow any intention on its part to persecute or in any way interfere with any person or class of persons who are conducting a lawful business, nor has it any desire for the passage of any so-called "blue laws." It simply wishes that our present laws and ordinances in regard to Sunday closing shall be enforced and, in cases where unnecessary Sunday traffic is permitted by the law, they hope, with the assistance of the other christians of the city, to so awaken public sentiment that the observance of an American and christian Sunday here will be so generally desired that it will be to the interest of all to concede it.

A YOUNG CRANE IN HILLSIDE CEMETERY.

Brought Down by a Ball Player's Well Thrown Stone.

While several young men were walking in Hillside Cemetery, yesterday, a dog which accompanied them, while roaming over the marshy ground at the head of the pond near the entrance, started up a young crane. It flew on a bog and a boy stoned it, when it flew into a tree near where the young men were standing.

"Jack" Farrell, whose practice on the base ball field, has made him an accurate thrower, shied a stone at the bird which brought it to the ground. It was alive when picked up and had strength enough to make a vicious jab at the face of a small boy who was looking at it, while in Mr. Farrell's hands, leaving the mark of its bill on his forehead, but died while Mr. Farrell was carrying it up town. The body was given to Gus Pfaff, who will have the skin stuffed and mounted.

The bird measured about a foot and a half from tip of bill to end of toes. The bird had a green bill and green legs and white on breast and belly and brown on wings and tail.

DROWNED IN PLEASANT LAKE.

A Monticello Baker Drowned While Bathing.

George Braun, a young man twenty-five years old, was taken with cramps and drowned before his father's eyes at Pleasant Lake, near Monticello, yesterday afternoon. His father, Martin Braun, of New York, was visiting him and after dinner the two, in company with friends, drove to the lake.

Braun had been in the water about fifteen minutes and was a considerable distance away from the others, so that assistance could not be given. He has been employed in a bakery in Monticello for the last two years and was highly respected.

SHOCKED BY A LIVE ELECTRIC WIRE.

A Broken Wire in a Binghamton Street Makes Lots of Trouble.

A live electric wire fell in a Binghamton street, Saturday morning, and was stepped on by one of a team of horses that was passing. The shock threw the horse to the ground and the driver, in endeavoring to get the horse out of its dangerous position was himself so shocked that he did not recover from the effects in an hour. A laborer, at work on the pavement near the scene of the mishap, tried to pull the wire away and received such a shock that he fell backwards on the pavement striking on the back of his head with great force. A man, who wore heavy rubber boots, finally got the wire away from the horses and men and a watch was kept on it until the current was shut off.

Bitten by a Copperhead.

John Eckert a Frenchman, employed as hostler, at a hotel near Paterson, while feeling for a currycomb in a closet in the stable, Friday night, was bitten on one of his fingers by a copperhead snake, which was coiled under a box in the closet. He killed the snake and then sucked the poison out of the bite and applied turpentine to it. He was taken to the Paterson hospital, Saturday, suffering great pain and with a badly swollen arm. His case is not regarded as serious and the doctors think he will be able to be out in a few days.

A Middletown Musician Honored.

The American College of Musicians, Albert Ross Parsons, president, has conferred the degree of associateship upon Mr. Harvey Lewis Wickham, organist of Grace Church, this city. Mr. Wickham was examined in Steinway Hall, New York, for four days, by S. P. Warren, S. B. Whitney, Geo. E. Whiting, E. M. Bowman, Thomas Tupper and Edwin B. Story, and acquired second honors. There are but six other organists in the United States who have ever received this degree.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

THE MAINSPRING OF HER LIFE.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Few people realize this.

What can she do, where can she go, so long as that dreadful backache saps both strength and ambition?

She cannot walk or stand, her duties are heavy burdens, and she is utterly miserable.

The cause is some derangement of the uterus or womb. Backache is the sure symptom.

For years Sarah Holstein, who lives at 7 Perry Street, in Lowell, Mass., suffered with falling of the womb. The best doctors failed to relieve her, and as a last resort she purchased six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now she is a well woman.

The dreadful pain in her back stopped after taking the second bottle. She wishes she had taken it sooner, and saved both money and years of suffering.

This Vegetable Compound is the one unfailing remedy for such troubles. A woman discovered it and gave it to woman.

It Cured Mother and Daughter.

BETHANY, N. Y., June 3, 1885,—"Since my wife commenced the use of Gilmore's wine she has steadily improved, until now her health is restored. She says she cannot keep house without this wine. It also cured my daughter, who was troubled with suppression of the menses. She had run over ten weeks and took only one bottle before she was cured."—Philip G. Burke.
